

Community Commitment*

After listening to feedback from many of you, we realized that the term “vow” created some unnecessary anxiety and confusion. As a result, we are dropping the term. In its place, we will use the word “commitment.” In inviting you to step into Covenant Community, our desire is simply that we as a church family would commit ourselves to expressing our unity in Jesus and living out our faith together. Thank you for your feedback.*

I, knowing that I am broken, sinful and fully dependent on the grace of Jesus and the power of the Holy Spirit to fulfill any commitment I make—and that I will at times fail—make this commitment before God and my brothers and sisters in Christ.

By God’s grace, I will seek to hear His voice through His Word and Spirit. I will strive to obey His voice as He speaks to me.

I will seek to show hospitality to others and receive the hospitality of others as it is extended to me.

I will strive to practice generosity with my time, gifts and the resources God has blessed me with.

I will seek to fulfill my calling (in faithful marriage or singleness) and work for the flourishing of my city and my neighbors.

I will celebrate my salvation through regular worship with God’s people and by keeping the Sabbath holy.

I make this commitment in the hope that together with my brothers and sisters at Imago Dei Community, we will glorify Jesus, enter His joy and bring salvation and healing to the world.
